

Here's What We're Learning

Homophones are words that sound the same but have different meanings and spellings. Examples: night (dark time) and knight (brave warrior). Even though they sound identical, each one means something completely different!

- night = the dark time when you sleep
- knight = a brave warrior in old times
- sea = a large body of salt water
- see = to look with your eyes
- sun = the hot star in the sky
- son = a boy child
- flower = a pretty plant that blooms
- flour = powder used for baking bread and cakes
- bear = a large furry animal
- bare = naked or empty
- hair = what grows on your head
- hare = a fast animal like a big rabbit

Remember!

Homophones sound the SAME but have different spellings and meanings.
